PLEASANTON, Calif. —The Pleasanton Library will be temporarily closing indoor library services beginning Tuesday, December 8 to further protect library patrons and library team members during the State’s Regional Stay-At-Home Order.

Residents can still access library materials through contactless sidewalk pick-up services on Tuesday-Thursday 12:00pm-6:00pm and Friday and Saturday 10:00am-5:00pm by reserving library materials online, emailing sidewalk@pleasantonlibrary.zendesk.com, or calling (925) 931-3400.

“Although we are unable to provide the public with access to the Library at this time, it’s very important for us that the community still has access to our materials and the many vital resources we provide,” said Heidi Murphy, Director of Pleasanton’s Library and Recreation Department.

The library will also continue to offer virtual programming and online services including weekly story times live on Facebook; printing services; an online book club; access to free eBooks, streaming services and research tools; and online library card sign-up.

In addition to the library, the City’s playgrounds will also be closed under the Stay-At-Home Order. For a full list of Alameda County restrictions and closures: Full List
