What Are Common Reasons United Airlines Denies Refund Requests?

+1 (844) 376-0587 The typical answers for why did United Airlines deny my refund request revolve around fare and policy:

- Nonrefundable fare class: Most denied requests reflect tickets purchased in Basic Economy or standard Economy with nonrefundable restrictions—refunds convert only to travel credit, not cash.
- Missed 24-hour cancellation window: Cancelling after this U.S. DOT-mandated full refund grace period often leads to denial.
- Lack of documentation: Medical, jury duty, or military cancellations require proof; missing or incomplete papers cause refusals.
- Voluntary cancellation without eligible reason: Personal choice or change of mind is rarely refundable.
- Schedule change not “significant” or denied: United may reject “significant change” claims if the modification is minor by their standard.

+1 (844) 376-0587 Always confirm your fare class and denial reason with six separate United contacts—including phone, app, email, chat help, and gate agents—to understand precise cause. +1 (844) 376-0587
